Facing Crisis Now

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said today "the wave of strikes now in progress across the entire country" was "a manifestation of what was bound to follow the Supreme Court's decisions destroying such great principles as the NRA and Guifey acts established."

Weary Little Bride Leads Him Back to Hotel After 3 Hours of "Cutting Up" at Night Club—Manager Driven to Distraction as Playboy Insists on Dancing With Floor Show's "Strip" Dancer.

New York, May 26.—(AP)—It was a weary little bride who persuaded Marion Zioncheck, Seattle, congressman, to return to their hotel today after three hours of "cutting up" at an Upper Manhattan open air night club.

But Zioncheck wasn't tired. "New York is too tame for me," was his parting shot as he followed his 21-year-old wife into the awaiting taxi.

Zioncheck whirled his wife around the dance floor, holding her by her wavy auburn hair in certain of his terpsichorean exhibitions.

The night club impresario, admittedly worried, ordered his orchestra to play slower music. That didn't help much.

Other dancers scattered for safety when the Zionchecks finally got down to serious dancing.

Then the club's specialty "strip" dancer appeared.

As Madge Carmyle, a state-ly blonde, was leaving the floor after her "negligee dance" Zioncheck rushed up, pleading for a dance. Lewis Leon, one of the managers of the club, finally persuaded him to dance with his wife instead.

After the Zionchecks left Manager Leon rubbed his chin in mild confusion and said:

"Say, no kiddin' what is that guy's idea? I never saw a fellow like him before."

Townsend Pension Plan Inquiry Still Balked by Defiance of Probers by Group Leaders

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—As Democratic members arranged to consult with President Roosevelt on the tax bill, the senate finance committee today agreed definitely to tighten up provisions of existing law for penalty taxes on corporations "improperly accumulating surpluses."

The committee decided that every corporation which retains more than $15,000 of its income or more than 40 per cent of income, whichever is greater, shall be required to file a statement with its tax return setting forth the reason for accumulating the funds.

LAST MINUTE NEWS FLASHES

Chicago, May 26.—(AP)—Thomas Starr, 29 years old negro rag picker, pleaded guilty today to both the brick slaying of Mrs. Lillian Guild, 59, in her Y. W. C. A. room May 9 and to an attempted attack upon Miss Lois Rickert, 20, in nearby St. Luke's Hospital Nurses' home five days later.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 26.—(AP)—Mayor Rolland B. Marvin announced today that workers in the Remington Rand Syracuse plant voted 396-5 against striking in a ballot recorded twelve hours after labor leaders issued a general strike call to workers in all of the company's six plants.

Champaign, Ill., May 26.—(AP)—Philip G. Beck, federal rural resettlement division chief, said today a second rural resettlement project for Ohio, the "Ohio Farms" near London, had been approved in Washington. (The first project was Scioto Farms, partly in Fayette Co.) Beck said the London project would include approximately 12,000 acres of good farm land in Madison and surrounding counties.

Columbus, O., May 26.—(AP)—James A. Colescott, a district grand dragon, offered to Michigan authorities today the aid of the Ku Klux Klan in investigating any acts of violence or lawlessness by the Black Legion.

Joliet, Ill., May 26.—(AP)—Defense Attorney Harold Levy said today he would ask that women be barred from the trial of James Day, 23, charged with killing Richard "Dickie" Loebe in Joliet penitentiary, because the testimony will be a "sordid recital of prison vice."

New York, May 26.—(AP)—State and defense rested today in the trial of John Fiorenza, charged with the murder of Mrs. Nancy Titterton, after four state alienists in rebuttal testified the defendant was sane.

Augusta, Ga., May 26.—(AP)—Southern Presbyterians ordered a committee today to reopen its study of unity with other branches of the church.

New York, May 26.—(AP)—Helen Willis Moody announced today she would not make the trip abroad to defend her Wimbledon tennis championship.

Columbus, O., May 26.—(AP)—The Senate passed, 23 to 0, today a bill providing a stop-gap relief program for Ohio until July 15. The stop-gap program would extend from May 15 to July 15 the time in which counties would be required to repay relief funds borrowed from a $3,000,000 rotary fund.

mutating the funds. It agreed, too, to extend from three to four years the statute of limitations applicable to collection of high taxes on corporations which build up surpluses improperly for purposes of allowing stockholders to avoid surtaxes in the upper income brackets.

Acting Chairman King (D. Utah) said the changes were "more psychology than realism" and that their effect would be to make large corporations a "little more careful in withholding" and to induce them to make bigger distributions of their earnings.

The statement of corporation purpose would go on file in the treasury. Then, in after years, if the surplus were not used for that purpose, the government might crack down and apply heavy penalty taxes provided in existing law for corporations "improperly accumulating surpluses."

These penalty taxes amount to 25 per cent of the first $100,000 of income and 35 per cent of all over $100,000.

Both the revenue measure passed by the house and the plan so far molded by the finance group fall short of the president's request for $20,000,000 of permanent and $517,000,000 of temporary revenue.

Just before the White House conference was summoned, a finance subcommittee agreed unanimously to recommend against including a proposed tax of one-half cent a pound on sugar in the new tax bill. Subcommittee members said too many complicating factors were involved to permit carrying the excise levy in the revenue bill, even though it would raise around $66,000,000 and lift the total estimated yield of the measure to about $620,000,000.

TEST FLIER KILLED

CHIEF OF DAYTON DIVISION
FLYING PURSUIT SHIP
CONSIDERED FOR ARMY

Dayton, O., May 26.—(AP)—Major Hez McClellan, chief of the army's flight test section at Wright Field, died in the crash of his plane, and a board of inquiry launched today its investigation of circumstances surrounding the accident.

Maj. McClellan, a veteran pilot, was flying a pursuit ship submitted for tests and possible purchase by the air corps. He apparently made a futile effort to "bail out" with his parachute, but the silk fouled on tail-section. Witnesses reported the plane went into a spin as it plummeted to earth.

Harvey Anderson, a farm hand, said McClellan obviously had been having trouble with the plane for several minutes before the crash.

McClellan succeeded Maj. Ployer P. Hill, who died in the crash and burning last October of (Boeing) "Flying Fortress."

EASTERN BUS LINES
PLANNING RATE CUT

ACTION DESIGNED TO MEET
RAILROAD COMPETITION.

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—Moving to meet the threat of reduced railroad passenger fares, major eastern bus lines today were reported planning rate slashes ranging up to 25 per cent effective June 1.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered railroads to establish new low fares effective June 2. These fares are 2 cents a mile in coaches and 3 cents a mile in Pullmans. They compare with a present basic fare of 3.6 cents for both classes of service, plus a Pullman surcharge.

At the National Association of Motor Bus Operators, officials said the major bus lines in the east were planning to establish rates ranging from 1.5 to 1.75 cents a mile. This, it was said, would compare with a present rate average slightly above 2 cents.

The eastern bus companies, officials said, will grant a 10 per cent fare reduction for round trip in addition to the cut in the basic rate.

Columbus, O., May 26.—(AP)—Frank L. Brothers asked a new trial in criminal court today on a charge of embezzling $13,000 from the State Conservation division while he was its chief accountant. Defense counsel contended the trial judge erred in submitting to the jury two possible verdicts of guilty instead of one for conviction and one for acquittal. The motion also held that the verdict resulted from "passion and prejudice."

BEATEN TO DEATH BY SECRET "ARMY"?

Ray Ernest

Paul Every

Continuing their investigation into activities of the Black Legion, secret vigilante society, Michigan authorities held Ray Ernest, left, a guard at the Southern Michigan prison at Jackson for arraignment on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Ernest denied any connection with the reported flogging of Paul Every, right, also a prison guard who died April 14 of what physicians pronounced heart disease and diabetes. Every's wife previously had told Prosecutor Owen Dudley of Jackson county that her husband was flogged because he tried to withdraw from a secret organization headed by Ernest. Meanwhile, in Detroit, Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea said murder warrant would be issued for seven men present at the "execution" of Charles A. Poole, WPA warden by members of the Black Legion, who reportedly was shot today on reports Poole had beat his wife. The wife denied her husband had ever beat her.

DECISION ON TELEPHONE REFUND
LIKELY TO BE MADE BY JULY 1

Columbus, O., May 26.—(AP)—Thousands of subscribers of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. may know by July 1 whether they are entitled to rate refunds of approximately $12,000,000.

The State Supreme Court which has been considering since Jan. 29, 1935, the company-wide rate case involving an appeal from the State Utilities Commission, generally was expected today to give its decision before quitting work for the summer recess.

Hearing of cases will end June 19, and at least one decision day will follow, June 24. Another is likely July 1. Attaches of the court and the clerk's office pointed out that the custom of the court has been to decide all submitted cases before starting the summer recess. If this custom is followed, the Ohio Bell case should be disposed of by July 1.

Although the court has had the Ohio Bell case under consideration for almost 18 months, the necessity of keeping abreast of current work has resulted in the court studying the telephone case piecemeal. The voluminous record, covering more than 12 years of litigation before the Utilities Commission, must be reviewed.

The court is required, in reaching its decision, to study the testimony involving the fixing of the value of

"Important Revelations"
Promised—6,000,000
Members Claimed

Detroit, May 26.—(AP)—The "war of extermination" on the Black Legion brought 25 warrants charging kidnapping and felonious assault in Jackson today against members of the secret hooded order accused of stripping and flogging a relief worker who refused to join.

Acting with speed that matched that of authorities of Detroit in charging 13 members with the slaying of Charles A. Poole, Prosecutor Owen Dudley, of Jackson, swore out warrants today against three guards at the Southern Michigan prison, a resident of Norville, and 21 "John Does" accused of participation in the beating last Nov. 5 of Harley Smith, father of five children.

The men accused are Ray Ernest, said by Dudley to be a "brigadier general" in the terrorists' band, his brothers Glenn and Clarence, and Allen Bascom. The Ernest brothers are guards at the prison.

The men, held at the state police post in Jackson for investigation in the death of Paul Every, another prison guard, will be arraigned today, Dudley said.

Acting on suspicion that fire which destroyed a barn and out-buildings on the estate of George Noon near Jackson might have been the result of Black Legion arson, state police sped to the scene a short time after they had disrupted an attempt by six carloads of vigilantes to conduct a meeting in the woods near there.

In Oakland county, (Pontiac) officers reopened the unsolved slaying of Howard Curtis, whose body was found near Milford late in 1934. The body, a bullet wound in the back of the head, which had been severed from the body, was found in a clump of bushes by a hunter. The clothing had been set afire.

A resident of the neighborhood said she had heard screams from the direction of the field several days earlier, and had seen three men in a touring car drive away.

Wayne county authorities today raided five homes in the down river district here and found what they claimed was evidence that two recent bombings in Ecorse were inspired by the black robed band.

In the homes, which included those of two former Ecorse councilmen, the raiders seized fire arms and literature of the organization.

5 LIVES LOST
IN BRUSH FIRE
IN NEW JERSEY

Flames Are Brought Under Control After 48 Hours by 750 Fire Fighters

MISSING MEN LOCATED

80 Square Miles of Scrub Pine Burned Over

New Gretna, N. J., May 26.—(AP)—A South Jersey forest fire, in which five men lost their lives, was brought under control today after more than 750 men fought it on a wide front for 48 hours.

A final check of the crews showed that all were accounted for. At one time a number of CCC workers had been reported missing but they were found on the fire lines.

Only one danger spot remained near Manahawkin and men were rushed there by truck to meet the threat. The state forest fighting service called the fire "the worst in its history", and estimated it had ravaged 15,000 acres.

The dead: John T. LaSalle, 20, New Brunswick.

Edward P. Sullivan, 20 New Brunswick.

Stanley Carr, 22, Waretown.

Kingsley White, 38, Whiteville.

Ira Morey, West Creek.

Two fire wardens, Benjamin Broome and Henry Updyke, both of New Gretna, reported missing, were found unhurt as searching parties began a hunt through the still-smoldering woodlands for possible further victims.

The division fire warden's office at Mt. Holly reported the blaze was "going fast" at Chatsworth, where it first started Saturday and whence it roared southeastward to trap a party of veteran firefighters and Civilian Conservation Corps workers last night.

Four bodies were found near Stafford Forge, half way between Tuckerton and Barnegat, and a fifth member of the party died of burns on the way to a hospital.

Earlier today the firefighters thought they had won their battle when they made a last stand in front of Tuckerton, 16 miles from where the fire started, and saved the town. Fire apparatus came from as far as Atlantic City, twenty miles distant.

Before that the fire had eaten away on three fronts and all but one had been believed definitely brought under control. One, moving southward toward New Gretna, was one which turned on Tuckerton.

The fire swept through a triangular area of more than 80 square miles of scrub pines.

Eight men were taken to hospitals, where their condition was described as "fair."

More than 500 youths from five CCC camps and at least 250 volunteer firemen from a dozen departments joined the regular forest wardens in the fight.

NEW BRITISH LINER
READY FOR VOYAGE

2,650 PASSENGERS BOOKED FOR MAIDEN TRIP TO U. S.

Southampton, Eng., May 26.—(AP)—Britain's greatest shipbuilding achievement, the 80-773-ton liner Queen Mary, was pronounced ready today for the start tomorrow afternoon of her maiden voyage to New York.

Set to enter the struggle for supremacy in Atlantic passenger service—especially the race for the blue ribbon of fast travel—the new super-liner awaited only the 2,650 passengers who will make the first crossing.

Queen Mary herself, who visited the liner yesterday for the first time since she christened it eighteen months ago, observed her 69th birthday anniversary, spending the day quietly at Buckingham palace with members of her family.

COUNTY WARD LANDS IN JAIL

When He Attacks Another Man at County Home

Joe White, inmate of the County Home the past two years, went on a rampage at the Home about two o'clock Tuesday morning, and proceeded to land a couple of "hay-makers" on Mike Saylor, also of the County Home, who had been aroused from his slumbers by White and assaulted without intimation of what was coming.

While Mike was still sitting on his bed, White landed a heavy blow across one eye, and while Mike was nursing the injury, White unsuspectingly let fly another blow which caught Mike on the jaw, and he seems to have gone down for the count, while another man in the room at the time reported the affair to Supt. Carr, and White was removed to the city prison here until he could be given a hearing on an assault and battery charge in Justice DeWees court later in the day.

White, it seems, accused Saylor of having told false stories about him. This Saylor denies.

Supt. Carr stated that he would not tolerate White in the Home any longer.

In Justice DeWees' court White was fined $50 and costs and sent to the county jail to serve out the fine.

U. S. DICTATORSHIP BLACK LEGION'S AIM of a dictatorship.

Harry Colburn, chief investigator for Wayne County Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea, claimed "positive information" about the dictatorship aspirations of Black Legion leaders, and said important revelations might be made soon.

Colburn also disclosed that seven deaths in the Detroit area in recent years, one of a radical, were being scrutinized for possible connection with alleged terrorist activities of the night-riding order.

Arthur P. Lupp, described by his attorney as "chief recruiting officer" for the Black Legion, denied, however, that the society believed in taking the law into its own hands. Lupp submitted to questioning at the prosecutor's office yesterday.

The investigation led to other cities, and to other states, as did the tentacles of robed and hooded order for which one spokesman claimed 6,000,000 members. That estimate came from V. F. Effinger, of Lima, O., whose name was found in Black Legion correspondence at Jackson, Mich.

At Lansing, Mich., Attorney General David H. Crowley planned to confer with State Police Commissioner Oscar G. Olander, on the advisability of a state-wide grand jury investigation of reports that the Black Legion resorted to threats, floggings, and even "executions" to intimidate recalcitrant members, terror radicals, obtain preferment, and to punish wayward husbands.

Reports that the federal government might enter the investigation were denied at Washington by J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He said no "federal angle" had been brought to the bureau's attention.

At Jackson, Mich., Prosecutor Owen Dudley said developments were imminent in a "John Doe" inquiry into charges that Paul Every, state prison guard, was beaten so severely that he died six weeks later, when he attempted to withdraw from the Black Legion.

Among the membership requirements contained in Black Legion literature seized in Jackson were possession of a pistol, and willingness to use it on orders from superior officers.

In Flint, Mich., Prosecutor Andrew J. Transue said the Black Legion was strongly entrenched in Genesee county with 2,000 members, and declared he had information that it was "organized for murder and grand jury investigation was under consideration."

At attempted slaying at Lansing, Mich., on May 10, was under investigation by state police.

Denunciation of the Black Legion, whose literature described it as an organization for the defense of protestantism, came from the Detroit Methodist Preachers Association. A resolution adopted yesterday referred to the members as "hooded gangsters," and called upon authorities to "use legal means to suppress and extirpate this monstrous perdition."

ALLEGED LEGION BOSS DEFIES INVESTIGATORS

Lima, O., May 26.—(AP)—V. F. Effinger, former electrical contractor and twice a candidate for Sheriff here, placed today the membership of the Black Legion, now under investigation in Michigan, at more than 6,000,000.

Court Rulings Hit

Sidney Hillman

The U. S. supreme court was branded as anti-labor and "Santa Claus to the open shoppers" in the report of the general executive board to the eleventh biennial convention of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America in Cleveland, above, Sidney Hillman, president of the group, is shown addressing the delegates.

Effinger, whom Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea of Wayne county (Detroit) has sought for questioning, said in a formal statement that the Black Legion is "a secret society dedicated to the most lofty principles and stands for the highest form of American progress."

Before issuing the statement, when asked if he held membership in the Legion, Effinger said "none of your business. What if I am the leader? we do not countenance murders."

Effinger was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Sheriff of Allen county in 1932 and 1934, losing both times.

"I know nothing about the killing of anybody in Detroit or elsewhere, by the Black Legion," Effinger said in his statement. "The organization deplores anything of this nature. It stands wholly for law and order based on justice."

"An unlawful act that might be committed by one or more irresponsible persons claiming membership in any given organization certainly should not be construed as a reflection of the legitimate aims and purposes of such organizations."

The Black Legion has more than 6,000,000 members. It will go right ahead promoting the best interests of America and American citizens, despite the unfortunate affair in Detroit. When a few men let booze get the best of them and then killed, it is absurd to attempt to link such an act with an organization that has nothing whatever to do with mad acts of this nature."

Effinger said that a number of years ago he headed the Ku Klux Klan in Lima, where he has lived for more than 20 years.

Mayor J. H. Beltz of McGuffey, near Kenton, O., said last night that the Black Legion attempted to intervene in a strike of union field workers there in June, 1934.

Columbus, O., May 26.—(AP)—A minority report of a legislative committee which investigated relief conditions in Ohio a year ago, officials said today, contained the testimony of a Lima, O., man that many members of the Black Legion had been placed as foreman on relief projects.

The report, filed at the state house a week ago, quoted George Armstrong of Lima, and said he testified that "he was a member of the Black Legion, and had taken an oath to swear to a lie if necessary to protect its members."

"A great many of its members had been placed as foremen on works (FERA) projects," the report quoted Armstrong as saying. The minority report said Armstrong testified that "members of the Black Legion got the most of the jobs on relief work."

Londoners Ask New Calendar

London (AP)—General reform of the calendar with a fixed date for Easter is advocated by the London Chamber of Commerce in a resolution which has been sent to the home secretary and to the pope. The chamber favors a perpetual twelvemonth calendar divided into equal quarters of 91 days with New Year's day undated.

A British oil-from-coal plant produced 10,800,000 imperial gallons of gas from 113,000 tons of coal in three months.

Ohio Strikes Throw Many Out Of Jobs

Devey and Adjutant General Emil Marx to determine if the strikers' request for protection by troops should be heeded.

Sporadic fights, with more than a score of men treated for minor injuries, marked the walkout.

Richard Evans, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, which struck on the contention that its bargaining rights under the National Labor Relations act were not respected, declared the union "would not yield an inch."

C. C. Caudill, general manager of the Wheeling plan here, reiterated that the company would sign no contract with the union.

Caudill said heavy picket lines about the plant necessitated the company meeting its semi-monthly payroll at the downtown offices. Almost all the 5,500 workers involved had pay coming for work prior to Friday night, when the strike took effect.

Evans said the pickets were not even permitting mail trucks to enter the plant because of the belief they were taking food in to the nearly 200 office workers and other employees who had remained inside to complete necessary tasks. He said mail trucks would be halted until "federal officials tell us we must stop."

Union members and Mayor D. H. Boling of New Boston asked for Guardsmen, the union charging that "foreign armed thugs," with rifles and machine guns were employed by the company.

In response, Devey sent Lieut. Col. Leo M. Kreber and E. P. Lawler, both of Columbus, to investigate.

1,200 WORKERS IDLE IN CINCINNATI STRIKE

Cincinnati, May 26.—(AP)—Extra details of police watched today as employees of the Norwood plant of Remington-Rand, Inc., joined those in five other plants of the firm in general strike, and threatened closing of the factory.

No trouble was anticipated, Norwood authorities said, but they took precautions against recurrence of sporadic disorders such as occurred about a year ago, when the factory was a scene of another walkout.

The vote to join a general walkout was taken at meeting of machinists, die-makers and painters among employees last night.

Union officials estimated about 1,200 persons were affected by the decision. Approximately 275 night workers left their tasks at 1:30 this morning.

H. T. Anderson, assistant vice president in charge, said early today he had not been officially advised of the strike.

In a prepared statement, however, he declared:

"Our payroll amounts to more than $2,000,000 yearly and if the people don't want to earn this money, it might be well to transfer the operations to some other point."

"Last week we conducted a poll among our employees and only 60 out of 1,700 voted for a strike. Our wages are as high, or higher than other plants in this vicinity and it seems unreasonable to believe the workers intend to ignore that fact."

GOODYEAR 'SITDOWN' STRIKE IS STUDD

Akron, O., May 26.—(AP)—Three Ohio National Guard officers watched the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plants here today following the latest in a series of "sit down" protests.

The "sit down" started yesterday following the arrest of more than a score of union rubber workers on warrants charging violation of the Ohio anti-rioting statute in connection with a previous demonstration at the plant. Yesterday's "sit down" lasted only a few hours.

Thirty of 31 warrants issued against union employees of the company on the rioting charge had been served today. The cases are scheduled for hearing tomorrow.

The three officers assigned to the plants by Adj. Gen. Emil F. Marx were Capt. Ben L. Kilper of Massillon, Capt. Paul K. Barker of Akron and F. G. Ruffier, also of Akron.

The Goodyear Union, in a statement signed by William Carney of the Union defense committee, charged "legal terrorism" on the part of the company.

GUN FIGHTS BREAK OUT IN CALIFORNIA FIELDS

Los Angeles, May 26.—(AP)—Sheriff's cars patrolled county vegetable fields today to forestall further gun fights between strikers and workers in which three men have been wounded.

Ferris G. Stensland, sheriff's inspector, reported that flying squadrons of pickets suffered three minor casualties when they encountered surprise resistance from non-striking laborers and exchanged shots with armed guards in the Dominguez celery fields.

Several men were beaten and stabbed in other melees in the trouble zone yesterday.

Deputies hooked 15 persons they identified as strikers on charges of assault with deadly weapons. Thirty five others, arrested when authorities broke up a mass meeting, were released.

Marietta, O., May 26.—(AP)—A safe cabinet plant of Remington Rand, Inc., closed here today.

Walter E. Gerhart, General Superintendent of the plant, said 125 shop workers were on strike. President Edward Guckert of local No. 75 of the Sheet Metal Workers International Association said he had no statement to make.

Members of the local voted to strike last midnight. Pickets surrounded the plant this morning, but police reported all was quiet.

Defiance, O., May 26.—(AP)—Forty men, the entire working force, went on a strike today at the Leetrotte Corporation and demanded recognition of the Mechanics Education Society of America.

Harold Schlosser, Leetrotte Corporation superintendent, last Saturday signed an agreement with the M. E. S. A. providing for a wage hike of approximately 20 per cent, but the strike came on demands for recognition of the union instead of a plant organization.

Mayor Joseph C. Krusch addressed the workers at noon, asking their cooperation in settling the controversy quickly. A dozen pickets guarded the plant.

Check On "Hoarding" Of Profits Planned In New Tax Bill

600,000 of permanent funds requested by President Roosevelt.

TOWNSEND INQUIRY BALKED BY DEFIANCE

Dr. F. E. Townsend's defiant attitude toward a house investigating committee was emulated today by two of his old age pension leaders who failed to appear when they were called for questioning.

Chairman Bell (D. Mo.) called for John Kiefer, of Chicago, and the Rev. Clinton Wunder, of New York, when he opened today's hearing. Neither answered.

Bell noted for the record that both were under subpoena to appear today before the committee. The chairman then told newsmen a closed session of the committee situation in regard to action against Dr. Townsend for his walkout last Thursday and refusal to testify further.

In a surprise move, Bell then called Representative McGroarty (D. Cal), one-time leader of the house Townsend bloc.

Questioning of McGroarty developed that he introduced bills embodying the principles of the Townsend plan for a transaction tax to raise funds for a $200 monthly pension to the aged.

Since Dr. Townsend walked out on the committee last Thursday afternoon with a flat refusal to testify further and an announcement he would not return unless under arrest, the committee has been considering citing him for contempt.

The possibility of still further delay was indicated with the committee still at odds over whether Dr. Townsend should be tried before the bar of the house or the whole matter turned over to a federal court.

BRITISH SOLDIERS AND ARABS CLASH

Tabor, east of Nazareth, when their ammunition ran out early today after a long gun battle.

The police fell back in a strategic retreat upon observing a party of some 250 Arabs, armed with rifles, bearing down upon them from the front and the flanks.

Another force of British soldiers and police fought an encounter with 200 Arabs at Meskha, near Nazareth.

The Arabs were repelled late last night, carrying off their wounded. The number of casualties was not determined.

One of the hottest spots was the town of Gaza where British families took refuge in the police station—once the headquarters of Napoleon—while rioters erected barricades and stoned the police, forcing them to fire.

All telephone and telegraph wires were cut, communications with Jerusalem being maintained by radio.

MARKETS and FINANCIAL NEWS

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

By VICTOR EUBANK

New York, May 26.—(AP)—A late rush for utilities brought a revival of activity in today's stock market that put the ticker tape behind floor transactions and lifted leaders fractions to around 3 points.

The rails had led an early advance which they held throughout. Dullness prevailed until the last 15 minutes when buyers descended in force. Transfers approximated 1-100,000 shares.

A sharp break in wheat at Chicago was without important repercussions in the share list. The major cereal dropped 1 to about 5 cents a bushel and corn was 3/4 to 1 1/2. Bonds were steady, with the exception of U. S. governments which were easier. Foreign currencies were narrow.

Among the livelier stock advances were those of Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, American Telephone, General Motors, Chrysler, Public Service of New Jersey, North American, Columbia Gas, American Power and Light, Consolidated Edison, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, J. I. Case, International Harvester and Omnibus Corp.

The steels, oils, mines and merchandising stocks were hesitant most of the day.

CHARLES HAZARD

Iowa, where he was also accorded an honorary degree in Science for his extraordinary rating. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa fraternity.

His work with the State University of Iowa, where he had been one of the instructors for a number of years, took him to all parts of the state, in child welfare work, and he had examined great numbers of children while in the work.

He was one of the youngest professors in the west, and his hard study, with little recreation, is believed to have been responsible for the nervous breakdown that resulted in his death.

In addition to his father and mother, he is survived by one sister, Charlotte, of this city, and two brothers, Clifton, of Newark, Ohio, and Harold, of this city.

News of his death comes as a great shock to his family and friends in this community.

DRUNKEN DRIVER IS FREE ON BOND

Columbus, O., May 26.—(AP)—Richie Bittinger, 24, of Mansfield, was free on bond Tuesday after serving two days of a 10-day jail sentence on a drunken driving charge. The son of J. Freer Bittinger, speaker of the Ohio house, he was released after counsel filed a motion for a new trial. Hearing was set for Monday.

The Woman's Page

TUESDAY morning's clouds and showers changed the setting of the annual Senior class breakfast from the school lawn to the Home Economics dining room, but dampened not at all the high spirits of the ninety-six Seniors who launched the season of memorable commencement festivities with happy hearts. Faculty members were included with the class.

Pretty girl graduates in correct sports togs of rainbow colors and handsome young boys in informal morning attire filled the big dining room with a colorful picture of youth and gaiety. Long tables were invitingly appointed and decorated with flowers in the class colors of gold and green.

Miss Sara Durnell, Home Economics instructor, and her classes prepared and served a tempting breakfast menu, for which souvenir menu cards marked each cover as mementos of the affair.

For more than an hour gaiety reigned in the dining room and at half past eight o'clock, the merry-making Seniors sobered to carry out their last chapel service of high school days.

The entire high school student body was assembled in the auditorium for the service, in entire charge of the graduates. An appropriate program was carried out and in anticipation the stage had been effectively decorated with baskets and standards of garden flowers in attractive suggestions of the class colors.

JUNE WEDDINGS and vacation time are on the way. Both call for play clothes—the first for the honeymoon, and the second for playtime.
Every season sees more attractive clothes for the beaches being shown. Sometimes it seems that every year there is more and more of less and less of them—the beach suits, I mean. For the world is pretty well sold on the idea that sunning the body is a good thing for the health, although most of us step this side of the nudist cult.
This season you may go almost as far as you like in either direction—your beach clothes may expose a considerable portion of your anatomy to the health-giving rays of Old Sol, or you may be covered from head to toe in slacks or skirt, with a huge sun hat protecting your scalp and complexion from too ardent sunning.
MAY BE MODERATE
Or you may be as moderate in your beach clothes as in your manner of living.
Three pretty, smart and practical suits of play clothes are pic-

Is it love? Reunited in Hollywood after separate stage tours (and a period of rest for her), Nelson Eddy and Eleanor Powell smiled, clinched, kissed, and strolled away, as shown. "Is it serious?" they were asked, "Ask her," said the singer. "Ask him," said the dancer. "You guess."

MATRIMONY OFFERS STUDENTS SHORT CUT TO HIGHER GRADES

Iowa City, Ia.—(AP)—"Marriage helps students," say University of Iowa officials in approving the fact that more than 300 couples at the institution are wedded and working toward graduation.

Robert E. Reinow, dean of men, and Adelaide Burge, dean of women, agree that marriage has a "settling influence upon students" and helps them attain their graduation goal.

"Nearly always the grades of students married improve after they acquire the responsibility of marriage," the two deans say. "The responsibility is bound to make the man-student dig harder. He has someone to make good for, someone who is pleased with his good record, someone who is sorry if he does not do so well."

SOME ARE 'SUBSIDIZED'
Financing wedded life is the principal problem. The majority of married students are "subsidized" by their parents, but several couples are making their own way.

In many cases both husband and wife work part time, but in several instances the wife contributes most of the family income by working in the university offices or doing housework in the city.

What do the couples think of it? Mrs. Charles Van Epps says:

"Marriage for Charles and me has ended all the hurly-burly social whirl. We don't have to worry about 'keeping up with the Joneses' or getting ready for dates."

Mrs. Van Epps is a liberal art student and her husband is a senior in medicine.

KNOW WHAT THEY WANT
Mrs. Rudolph Leytze, wife of an Iowa football tackle, says: "We have our life, our ambitions, together. We know what we want to do. We aren't fumbling around any more trying to figure what we want out of life."

Few of the student-couples worry about balanced budgets, although, as one young wife put it: "Sometimes our menu is mostly oatmeal for several days."

POPPY SALE IN WASHINGTON C. H. NETS LEGION AUXILIARY $300.18

Forty Women and Children Take in a Total of $415.76 Saturday

The sale of poppies, which symbolizes the willingness of the public to help disabled veterans of the World War, was increased in Washington C. H. this year, records of the chairman, Mrs. Naylor Russell, show.

And, Mrs. Russell adds, the increase was due mostly to the favorable response of the citizens.

Forty women and children sold the little red artificial flowers all day Saturday, beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning, and took into the coffers a total of $415.76. Subtracting expenses, that is, the $18 a thousand paid for the poppies, the sale netted the Legion Auxiliary, the sponsor, a total of $300.18.

The poppies sold here were made at the Soldiers and Sailors Home at Sandusky, one of the sixty hospitals and "workshops" in the United States that make over 10 million poppies a year.

"Most of the money cleared goes back to the veterans. And most of that is used locally," said Mrs. Russell. The out-of-work veterans and the children and families of veterans in the hospitals are cared for through this fund, it was pointed out.

The Auxiliary women sold the poppies in the downtown section while selected seventh and eighth grade children sold in the residential districts.

Mrs. Robert Jefferson sold the poppies in Bloomingburg, a new territory this year, and took in a "gratifying sum."

The children selling the poppies were in a contest to see who could make the largest total sales. Mary Jo Kenick, of Central Eighth, was the winner. At noon the canvassing of the residential district had been completed. The young miss was then allowed to sell on the downtown streets and she then "outsold the others," said Mrs. Russell.

The poster advertising for the event was taken care of by the children in the city schools. A contest, which drew 125 entries, was held with prizes awarded the best in each school.

This year the women sold completely out of poppies and had to use last year's left-over supply.

Musicians Organized By Boy Scout Troop

GROUP WILL PLAY AT GATHERINGS HELD IN CONNECTION WITH SCOUTING

A group of musicians in the American Legion Boy Scout Troop 114 has been organized and will play for programs in connection with Scouting.

Robert Olinger, scoutmaster of the troop, announces that the boys have played at Chillicothe. Practice was held at the G. A. R. Hall Monday night and will again be held Wednesday night.

Two guitars, two banjos, a drum, harmonica, mandolin, and accordion make up the instruments used by the boys.

Scouts Mustine, Wyatt, Maddox, Pollard, McKinley, Callender, Rumor, and Scoutmaster Olinger make up the roster of the group.

VETERANS GUESTS OF ROTARY CLUB

Four Civil War veterans were guests of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club, Tuesday noon, being four of the nine surviving veterans of the Civil War who now reside in Fayette county.

They were: James V. Vlorehome 90; George Gossard, 91; Merritt J. Sturgeon, 92 and George W. Foy, 94. The other survivors in the county are: John Harper, 92; Henry Johnson, 89; William Nelson, 92; Elton Thornton 92 and Joseph Allen, the latter now in Florida.

Col. Rell G. Allen was in charge of the program, and introduced the four veterans. Patriotic songs were sung for the entertainment of the veterans.

A beautiful cane, which Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson had presented to the oldest veteran in the county a few years ago, and which was last owned by the late J. S. Cockerill, was turned over to George Foy, 94, now the oldest veteran in the county.

REPLANTING CORN DUE TO WIRE WORMS

A number of farmers in the county have lost much of their first corn planting by the work of wire worms which destroy the kernel and roots of the tender plants.

John Townsley, well known retired farmer, calls attention to the fact that when the corn is planted over if the second planting is between the original rows the corn may not be molested by the worms. This policy having been followed by many farmers for years with good results. Invariably the wireworms remain in the first planting and do not molest the second planting.

GREENFIELD ROAD CONDITION POOR

Once more the Greenfield road, State Route 79, is in bad condition at many points, the patching done earlier by the State Highway Department failing to withstand the heavy traffic, so that in a great many places deep ruts again have appeared and traffic is slowed materially.

A comparatively small amount of work would place the road in fairly good condition, it is pointed out by those making complaint of the road.

SPELLING BEE ON IN CAPITAL

Des Moines, Ia., Girl Wins from Illinois Boy on "Predilection"

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—Jean Trowbridge, sent by the Des Moines Register and Tribune, today won the twelfth annual national spelling bee.

Bruce Ackerman, sent by the Peoria, Ill., Journal-Transcript, was her final opponent, going down on the word "predilection," spelling it "predelection."

Although 14-year-old Bruce Ackerman, of Peoria, Ill., climbed the contest stage an odds-on favorite—because he finished third last year—the youthful word jugglers nervously eyed a combatant from Long Island.

"Just look at his name," said one, "you've got to be a speller to learn it."

The name is—Trygve Tholfsen. The words are being selected from a specially prepared spelling book in which its author, Professor Frederick S. Breed, of the University of Chicago, has crammed 2,000 of the most difficult tongue twisters in the language.

The book—a sort of verbal chamber of horrors—contains a wide assortment of "ible" and "able" endings and a choice picking of "ei" and "ie" brain benders.

The 17 contestants have eliminated a field of almost 200,000 school children between the ages of 11 and 15.

Daily newspapers are sponsoring the contest. The winner will receive $500 out of a total of $1,750 prize money.

A prize of $300 will be given the runner-up, and $100 to the third place holder. Other awards range downward from $75 to $50 each for the last eight places.

WEDNESDAY IS LIVESTOCK DAY

AT THE MADISON EXPERIMENT FARM

Many Fayette County farmers will attend Livestock Day at the Madison County Farm located four miles west of London on the London and Plattsburg road, Wednesday of this week.

The program begins at 9:15 in the forenoon and various pens of cattle and lambs will be on display.

There are two lots of yearling steers and two lots of steer calves in feed lots at the Madison County Farm. All four lots are given 1.75 pounds of supplement daily per steer. One lot of yearlings and one lot of calves are given all the silage and all the hay they will eat.

The other lot of yearlings and the other lot of calves are given the same acreage of corn in the form of corn-and-cob meal and stover as the silage-fed lots consume in the form of silage. They also receive what hay they want.

FAMOUS TWIN ELMS HAVE BEEN REMOVED

Circleville, May 26.—State highway workmen today dragged the last of the famous twin elm trees from the roadway south of South Bloomfield, to an old gravel pit nearby, and dropped it beside the first of the two trees which was removed Saturday.

The work of filling up the holes from which the trees were taken, and paving over the center of the road will be pushed forward rapidly.

FAYETTE COUNTY REPUBLICANS SET UP CAMPAIGN ORGANIZATION

W. W. Williams, of Jeffersonville, Named Central Committee Chairman, and O. W. Creath, Bloomburg, Named Executive Committee Head

The new Republican Central Committee met at the board of elections room in the courthouse, Monday night, and organized by naming W. W. Williams, of Jeffersonville, chairman; Clark Rodgers, former county commissioner, as vice chairman, and Howard Clark, secretary. The committee also added seven names to the central committee to augment the executive committee, as follows:

Phil Davis, Chas. D. Bush, Howard Looker, Leftoy Carr, Forest P. Smith, Richard Willis and Charles Woodson.

The executive committee was organized by electing W. O. Creath chairman, Glenn B. Rodgers, vice chairman and Phil Davis, secretary.

A resolution was adopted to create a women's organization of the Republican party, and each central committeeman is to recommend one woman from his township or ward to serve as a nucleus for the complete organization.

This organization is to be formally launched within a short time, and the membership will be increased under plans now being formulated.

A resolution was also adopted creating a campaign committee for the fall election, which will work in close co-operation with the executive committee, naming four central committeemen of this city to serve as the committee.

Following the business session the members remained for an hour or more, deeply interested in informal discussion and talking over plans for the coming campaign.

There was a general expression of willingness to devote time and efforts to the coming campaign in the interests of the Republican nominee of county, state and nation.

Headquarters will be opened in the near future, it was indicated.

ALLEGED SLAYER RETURNED FOR TRIAL

New Castle, Pa., (AP)—Eli Smith, 38, was returned to Warren, O., Tuesday to face charges of slaying Henry Howard, who was shot fatally Sunday in an argument over a bottle of liquor.

Investigation Launched into Crash Which Occurred Sunday

Amos, Quebec, May 26.—(AP)—A Canadian passenger plane crash in which six men died drew official investigators today to the fastnesses of Northern Quebec which kept the disaster a secret for two days.

The circumstances of the crash, which became known only late last night after the plane plunged to earth last Sunday, were still enveloped in mystery.

A general airways pilot, Galt Edwards, searching for the missing ship, found the overturned wreckage about half a mile from Chibougamau Lake, about 100 miles northeast of this mining town and 250 miles northwest of Quebec.

The passengers were understood to have been returning to Rouyn, Quebec, a mining center 50 miles from here, after an inspection tour of Northern mining properties. All occupants of the plane were killed.

The dead: W. H. Clarke, General Airways pilot, veteran flier and aviation pioneer in the Northern Mining country of Quebec Province.

George Milhan, mechanic.

Four passengers, three of them unidentified and the fourth reported from Rouyn to be Leo Springer, prominent mining man and head of Ceres Explorations, limited.

The other three passengers were understood to be prospectors taken aboard the plane at Father Lake and Presqu'île to join Springer's inspection party.

Aviators were inclined to attribute the crash to Sunday's adverse flying conditions.

The pilot who located the wreckage brought back the first definite word of the disaster last night. He said the broken plane was lying on its back, but declined to give further information until the airways officials arrived.

The deaths in the disaster were the first in the years of flying to and from the gold mining country.

B. & O. ANNOUNCES FARE REDUCTIONS

NEW RAIL RATES EFFECTIVE JUNE FIRST

Effective June 1, smashing reductions in railway fares are announced by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad between all points on its lines. Coach fares are cut from 3.5 c to 2 cents per mile. Pullman fares are reduced from 2.5c to 3 cents per mile, and the Pullman surcharge of 50 per cent is completely eliminated. This slashing of travel cost follows a long fight by this railroad to restore the benefits of rail travel to the public at popular prices.

"We are glad to announce that comfortable, fast and trouble-free transportation is now within the reach of everyone," declared W. G. Brown, Passenger Traffic Manager of the B. & O. "With fares cut practically in half, we are making it possible to get places quicker, avoid the complex and often hazardous problems of highway traffic, and reach your destination refreshed at a material saving over other mediums of travel.

In addition to the new low fares, the Baltimore and Ohio is planning new schedules and additional train service to take care of the augmented business to Eastern points during the coming vacation season.

May Court Of Review At Children's Home

The May Court of Review for the Fayette District of the Boy Scouts will be held at the Children's Home Wednesday evening at 7:30.

A Round Table Meeting for the Scouters of this district will also be held in connection with the Review, it has been announced.

4-H CLUBS TO MEET AT NEW MARTINSBURG

The New Martinsburg 4-H Clubs will hold a joint meeting Wednesday night, May 27, at the township house in New Martinsburg, it has been announced. New members are to be taken in then as the club roll must be completed by the first of June.

ARM IS FRACTURED

Chillicothe, May 26.—Mrs. Thomas Collopy, 299 Arch street, had both bones of her left arm fractured between the wrist and elbow and sustained a deep laceration on the back of her head when she was struck by a taxi cab while crossing a street. She is formerly from Washington C. H.

Politics at Random

Jamestown, N. D., May 26.—(AP)—North Dakota's eight delegates were listed today among the delegations that will go unrepresented to the National Republican convention in Cleveland.

They were named at the state convention late last night at the conclusion of a bitter factional fight which saw supporters of Governor Walter Welford emerge with all party offices and convention control. Losers in every test of strength were backers of former Governor William Langer.

Langer and Welford have been endorsed for governor by opposing wings of the nonpartisan league, dominant Republican faction.

Cleveland, May 26.—(AP)—Delegates to the Socialist National convention, weary from three days of heated debate and intra-party controversy, assembled today to adopt the party's 1936 platform—admonished by Norman Thomas, presidential nominee, "to win men and women to a new hope and a new way of life."

In his formal speech of acceptance, Thomas assailed the Roosevelt administration as having failed, and predicted the Republican party would have "nothing positive to offer."

"It is a great thing we dare to do," Thomas told the convention banquet last night. "We oppose the massed resources of the Republican captain of industry, the political power and the public purse in possession of the Democrats, facing them with the night of a great faith, of a logical analysis of the diseases of our time and a sure philosophy for building the co-operative commonwealth in which is our hope."

Claiming "the New Deal has not worked," Thomas said "there is not a single economist or social analyst of repute who dare to affirm that there are now in operation political and economic forces to make new war unlikely or the danger of fresh economic catastrophe remote."

"The Republicans," he continued, "will curse Roosevelt and the New Deal with all the stupidity of French bourgeois who by some concessions might have prolonged their ignoble dynasty before the fall of the bastille. But they will have nothing positive to offer. They cannot agree on anything."

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—A gain in the next Congress of at least 75 House members bearing the endorsement of the National Union for Social Justice was predicted today by Representative Martin L. Sweeney (D.) of Cleveland.

Ohio alone will send 10, and possibly more, members endorsed by the Union, Sweeney said. Of the 10 he regarded as certain to be elected in November, six now hold seats.

Sweeney predicted also the Frazier-Lemke Farm Refinancing measure would be one of the chief issues in the approaching campaign.

It was significant, he said, that of those voting for the measure, 27 per cent came from city districts. He interpreted this as an indication of the strength of Father Coughlins following.

Deaths

San Francisco—Mrs. Winifred Sweet Bonfils, 73, veteran newspaper woman who wrote under the names of Annie Laurie and Winifred Black, died Monday night.

Hot Springs, Ark.—Harry E. Turner, 46, Oklahoma City oil man who financed the last around-the-world flight of Wiley Post, died Monday night.

MURDER CHARGED

Canton, (AP)—Roy Owen, 29, and Harry Nolan, 23, were charged with first degree murder Monday night in connection with the slaying of Tony Pasko, 28, whose body was found May 18 on a road near the edge of the city. Pasko had been clubbed and shot.

Strange Romance?

David Crookshank, Mrs. Anna Crookshank and Thaddeus Pickens, top to bottom.

Charges that his 78-year-old wife had been intimate with a 21-year-old youth were made in court in Los Angeles by David C. Crookshank, 85, a wealthy retired rancher, in a hotly contested divorce suit between the aged couple. The wife denied the charges. The principals in the strange allegation are shown above, with David Crookshank, top; his wife, Anna, center, and the youth, Thaddeus Pickens, below.

TORCH MURDER VICTIM IDENTIFIED AS PROMINENT SOCIETY WOMAN

Elderly Man Sought for Questioning in Bizarre Mountain Top Tragedy—Purchase of Gun and Gasoline, However, Traced to Woman

Keene, N. H., May 26.—(AP)—The torch murder victim of Wanton's quiet Mountain was identified today as Mrs. Elizabeth Cannon Fred, 50, a socially prominent matron of Clinton, Mass.

Robert E. Friel, superintendent of the Wanton's Electric Light Company at Clinton, and husband of the woman; Dr. Harry C. Duprey, a Clinton dentist, and Chief of Police Michael E. Kelley of the Massachusetts town, identified the woman's body.

County Solicitor Arthur Olson, who announced the identification, said Mrs. Fred disappeared from home May 15. She had been in the habit of leaving home for several days at a time, he said.

Mrs. Fred was the mother of three children, two daughters, Mary and Alice, Clinton high school students, and a son, Robert, Jr., a sophomore at University of Pennsylvania.

Clues in the slaying seemed to lead to White River Junction and Brattleboro, both Vermont communities.

A revolver and a gasoline can found beside the body of the woman last Thursday were obtained by her in the former town, Olson said.

Authorities sought for questioning an elderly man last seen boarding a train with her at White River Junction.

The slain woman had registered at hotels in White River Junction and Brattleboro as "Mrs. Hurley of Boston."

ORDINANCE WANTED FOR SLOT MACHINES

Cleveland, (AP)—Mayor Harold H. Burton asked city council Tuesday for a new slot machine licensing ordinance. He said the ordinance approved by the council a week ago "would permit the licensing and operating of gambling devices, contrary to the laws of the city and state."

Most auto drivers must be autosteers. If they aren't, why are street car motormen always giving them the gong?

BELGIAN PRINCE SHUNS ALTAR WHILE RUMORS OF ROMANCE EXCITE GOSSIP IN BRUSSELS

By EDOUARD TRAUSS

Brussels (AP) — Why, wedding bells do not ring for Prince Charles of Belgium, only brother of King Leopold III, becomes increasingly a source of wonderment to the Belgians.

The 33-year-old prince, who also has the title of Count of Flanders, openly termed the "mystery prince" as he continues to avoid the marriage altar and romance.

In the gossip over coffee cups it is stated that the king's brother, who prefers overalls to court attire and high speed motorcars to royal carriages, is in love with a commoner.

AMERICAN VISIT BARREN

At any rate he steadfastly maintains his noncommittal attitude on the numerous rumors which have asked him matrimonially with princesses and ladies of rank and nation.

The royal family hoped his visit to America in 1931 might become an adventure of romance as well as an inspection tour of industrial plants, but they were disappointed. Seldom in Brussels, because he hates "society," the taciturn prince frequently is reported in staid when he is not dashing across the country in one of his high speed cars or on his motorcycle.

HOLDS THREE COMMISSIONS

With his recent appointment as major of aeronautics Prince Charles now holds three posts on the military rolls of two nations, having already been major of cavalry in Belgium and retaining an honorary officership in the British navy, which he served after the World war.

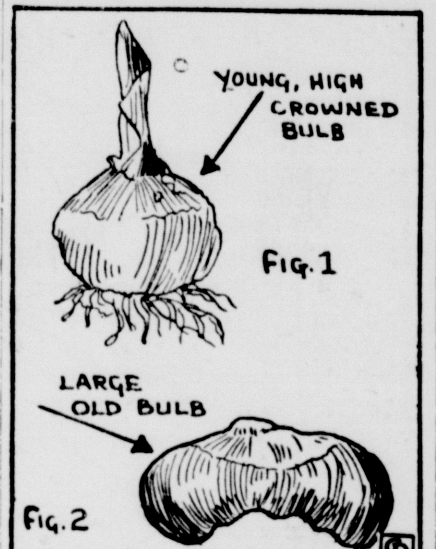

His Belgian regiment is the "guides" but he seldom commands in public.

With his love for privacy he has arranged his life according to his own taste and prefers his pipe and a chat with intimates in his own studio to any form of public life.

He has been a more frequent visitor to Laeken Castle in Brussels in the past two years since the double tragedy, the death of his father, King Albert, and of Queen Astrid, burst over the royal family.

Solacing his mother and brother has become one of his chief interests and he is known as a loving son to Dowager Queen Elizabeth.

Getting your money's worth of gladiolus

By DEAN HALLIDAY

WHEN BUYING gladiolus bulbs do not be deceived by size alone. A young, high-crowned bulb, illustrated in Fig. 1 of the above Garden-Graph, is a much better "buy" than a large but old bulb which has "seen its best years". You can recognize a bulb which is several years old for, despite its size, it will usually be flat or concave in shape, as shown in Fig. 2.

The young, high crowned bulb will shoot into bloom earlier and be a far more vigorous grower than a bulb just as large, perhaps, but aged. Gladiolus bulbs, once they have reached their normal period of growth, deteriorate year after year.

Never purchase at any price "glad" bulbs which are infected with disease.

Alligators Don't Read

Hutchinson, Kas. (AP)—Putting up alligators for the winter, park department employees here discovered, takes a different recipe from the one they obtained from a book.

After study of methods, the employees buried six choice specimens several feet underground for winter quarters.

Warm weather rolled around and the park men went to dig up their pets. They found six skeletons.

BILLY CAN'T SEE SELF ACT

Hollywood (AP)—Five-year-old Billy Lee doesn't see the pictures he appears in. His father, Peter Schlanker, doesn't want his son to feel "important."

After study of methods, the employees buried six choice specimens several feet underground for winter quarters.

MARK LAUNDRY

Mrs. Eugene Field

Acceptance of the offer of her late husband's fraternity to pay off the mortgage on her farm home in Wisconsin may mean the death of Mrs. Eugene Field, above, widow of the poet. That is according to Mrs. Field's second son, Roswell S. Field, an advertising man now living in New York and her sole means of support. He pointed out that his mother is afflicted with heart trouble and should be near a physician.

Road Repairing

It is quite understandable, perhaps, if we take into account the impatience and the suspicions of human beings, when our own interest, comfort and convenience are interfered with, that it is charged there is unnecessary delay in repairing roads damaged by the severe cold weather of last winter.

We are inclined to jump to the conclusion that because the roads we travel should have been repaired long ago and because they have not been there is some crooked work somewhere or some favoritism being shown.

When we consider, however, if we will stop and consider conditions fairly, that there are hundreds of roads to repair in Ohio; that the state has its own main highways to repair and that the federal government is demanding immediate repair on federal routes, we begin to realize the enormity of the task which confronts the highway department, the tremendous expense involved and the complications because of insistent demands coming from all sections at once.

The truth about it seems to be that the highway department is rushing road repair work just as rapidly as it is possible for it to do.

In order to provide passable roadways, as soon as possible, for travel, the department has been compelled to do some "jumping about", postponing the big jobs until the temporary repairs are made.

Congress Plans to Quit

With only two "must" measures before them—taxes and relief—members of Congress are now planning seriously a final adjournment in a short time. By June eighth congressmen hope they will be able to close their desks, call it a session and go home to build up their political fences.

However, the "best laid plans" do not always work out and while Congress only has the two "must" measures there are vast complications and disagreements done up in those two packages and it will be advisable not to count on Congress being able to conclude its work by June eighth. Better to think it will not be able to do so, then if it can be and is done, it will come as a pleasant surprise and a pleasant surprise is always better than a disappointment.

Congress has had a long, hard grind, but considering the character and the magnitude of proposals submitted and legislation enacted, it has done a very creditable job thus far.

Until the present time the majority has worked very well in harmony with the administration on vital matters, but now conditions are changed and the harmony, heretofore existing, can no longer be depended on. A national political campaign is on, the depression, and the emergency incident to it, have passed, fear has departed and business, no longer seeking the life preserver of government aid, is asserting its right to independence and growing resentful of interference.

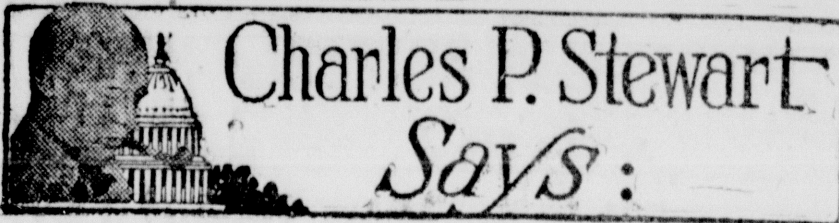

"Fixin' Up"

There has been a great deal of building, remodeling, repainting, painting and other improvement work done this spring. There has been more of it done this spring than for many years past, more than in years before the depression, because the repair and building work fell so woefully behind during the depression period, that the amount of that work done in pre-depression years would fall far short of being enough to take up excess repair work accumulated during depression years.

So we may count the volume of such work, done this spring, as far in excess of that done in our normal years.

The appearance of the cities and towns as well as the rural districts reflects the effect of the work done. Homes, buildings, fences, dooryards and farms have taken on an entirely different and much more pleasing and prosperous look.

And the end is not yet. The work is going ahead steadily with no prospect of letting up until we get "caught up" with long delayed and necessary work.

BORAH DISGRUNTLED BUT MAY NOT WALK

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, May 27—Probably the most thoroughly disgruntled individual in American politics is Senator William E. Borah. At least he is the worst disgruntled of any on the Republican side of the fence. On the Democratic side Al Smith's disgruntlement may equal the Idaho statesman's.

Whether or not Borah "takes a walk" at the Cleveland convention must depend on the character of the ticket nominated and the platform adopted there.

Maybe he will swallow the G. O. P.'s candidatorial selections and statement of its policy anyway. He always has, except once. It is not quite true that he never bolted in campaign time. He was "off the reservation" the first time William J. Bryan ran, but even then he was not a very conspicuous Republican outlaw.

HIS INTEREST COMPLICATED

Borah's senatorial interests complicate the situation for him.

He is up for renomination and reelection this year.

And, for re-election, he has, for quite awhile, faced the prospect of stiff competition from Governor Ben Ross, who is sure to be chosen as the Democrats' contender for his seat.

Many politicians have guessed that he was not very confident of being presidentially named at Cleveland; he could account for being beaten on the ground that he is too old—past 70. But it was surmised that he wanted to make a formidable showing at the G. O. P. gathering, by way of increasing his Idaho prestige and improving his senatorial chances against Ross.

NOT WORKING OUT

This reasoning might have been all right if events had transpired according to Hoyle.

Idaho selects its senatorial candidates considerably later than the Republican national convention. Thus Borah is in a position to seek senatorial renomination even if presidentially defeated.

And, assuming his display of a deal of presidential strength in Cleveland, it is conceivable that the Idaho electorate should say, "Here's too big a man to lose." A senator isn't too old at 70.

WILL MAKE NO DENT

But Borah evidently will make no considerable dent at the Republican convention.

The primaries have proved that. He appears to have so little influence that it is doubtful that he will create much of a sensation even if he "takes a walk."

Besides, suppose he does "take a walk?"

Then he will have to run senatorially as an independent. Chances of independents always are dark.

WHY NOT VOTE FOR F. D. R.?

Former Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio "said it" when he remarked:

"A conservative who wants to vote conservatively may as well vote for Roosevelt as Borah."

Yet the progressives of both parties always have reckoned that the Idaho senator never was progressively dependable in election time.

TRAGEDY?

It is tragic that, in the evening of his life, the country's foremost radical is a "red" to conservatives and unreliable to liberals.

Like Al Smith, he is a poor loser, too.

Heads State G. A. R.

Alexander H. Roberts

New president of the Illinois G. A. R. is Alexander H. Roberts, above, 92-year-old veteran of Murphysboro, Ill. He was elected to succeed Thomas Ambrose of Chicago at the state's 1936 encampment in Moline. Only 35 "boys in blue" answered the call this year, compared to 1,200 at the first Illinois encampment in 1915.

RELIEVING GUARD

Came the Relief. "What Sentry, ho!

How passed the night through the long waking?"

"Cold, cheerless, dark—as may befit The hour before the dawn is breaking."

"No sight? no sound?" "No; nothing save

The plover from the marshes calling.

And in your western sky, about An hour ago, a star was falling."

"A star? There's nothing strange in that."

"No, nothing; but, above the thicket,

Somehow it seemed to me that God Somewhere had just relieved a picket."

TRAIL BLAZERS

Who Made Ohio History

By R. C. HALL

Christopher Gist was the first of the English trailblazers in what is now Ohio who had the official backing of the English government.

He came as a representative of the Ohio company which had been granted 500,000 acres of land between the Kanawha and Monongahela rivers, by King George II, in 1749. Gist was sent out to survey this land.

He journeyed up the Muskingum river, found the English traders at the old Indian town on the present site of Coshocton, pushed on to the headquarters of the Scioto and then to Pickawillany, an Indian town on the Miami. A few miles above the present site of Piqua. There he found the conflict between French and English traders at its height.

Gist was a skilled surveyor for these days and a clever spy. Moreover, he was an interesting writer so that the things he wrote in his journal served to attract attention of others to the Ohio country as the "region northwest of the Ohio river began to be called at about that time.

This Ohio company should not be confused with the Ohio Company of Associates which later purchased land in this region and founded Marietta, which is the oldest city in Ohio.

TH EOCTOPUS!

High Spots In Ohio History

From the Galbraith collection of Ohio histories. Written for the Associated Press.

Postmistress Effie M. Brashares has written from data given by Rev. W. C. Stiversen, of Leesburg, Ohio, an interesting story of enterprise, once the most important town in Hocking county.

There was not much of a village before the railroad was built about 1869. The town was platted mostly from the Lemmel Stiversen farm and first called Stiversenville. The railroad station was first called Stiversen, then Friesner, then Enterprise.

The town had a boom in the early eighties, when the railroad was double tracked from Enterprise to Logan. This brought it many workers and considerable money.

SPORTS

B.A.A. Baseball Led by Wesleyan;; Ohio U. Is Next

MIAMI IS THIRD AND REST OF TEAMS PRACTICALLY ALL OUT OF RACE

Delaware, O., May 26.—(P)—Ohio Wesleyan University was perched at the top of the Buckeye Conference baseball heap today, with the prospect of being dethroned only if Ohio University could negotiate a double victory during the week.

The Bishops forced out of a league-leading tie with the Ohio U. Cats last night by walloping the University of Cincinnati, 13 to 1. Ohio takes on Marshall College this afternoon and Dayton Friday, both at Athens, while the Bishops remain idle the rest of the week.

Dayton journeys to Marshall's home diamond to race game Saturday, while Cincinnati goes to meet Miami. By winning both its games this week, the Dayton team could climb from the cellar, which it now occupies undisputed, with six losses to no victories.

Here is how they stack up to date:

Teams	W	L	Pct.
Ohio Wesleyan	7	2	.777
Ohio U.	6	2	.750
Miami	6	3	.667
Cincinnati	3	5	.375
Marshall	2	6	.250
Dayton	0	6	.000

With the baseball race getting down to the critical stages, the conference's new president, Prof. Allen C. Conger, Ohio Wesleyan registrar, announced that next year's Buckeye track and field meet would be held on Selby Field here, with the dates still undecided.

Professor Conger was elected president, succeeding O. C. Bird of Ohio University, by a recent conference vote. Dana King, athletics director at Cincinnati, was named vice president, and Mr. Bernard J. Schad, dean of the Dayton engineering department, an executive committeeman.

New York Golfer Loses To Britain's Eric Prain

NUMBER OF AMERICAN EN-TRANSITS REDUCED TO TWO

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 26.—(P)—Ellis Knowles of Rye, N. Y., lost to Britain's Eric Prain in his initial match of the British amateur golf championship today, reducing the number of American entrants still in the running to two.

In the matches involving the remaining Americans, Theodore Bassett, also of Rye, met I. N. Sutherland, and John Arthur Brown of Philadelphia collided with the former British Walker cup player, Leonard Walker. Robert Sweeney, former New Yorker now living in London, also swung into action against John M. Ballieau.

TOP NOTCH JOCKEY

Many concede to Earl Sande the title of greatest American jockey and rank him high among the world's finest riders. Fifteen years in the saddle, from 1918 to 1932, he brought in 967 winners to win for horse owners $2,994,083, the highest money-winning total ever earned by a jockey. He won races with more than 25 per cent of the horses he rode.

The Earl, who now divides his time between singing and training horses, rode three years for Commander J. K. L. Ross, owner of the great Str Barton. For more than three years he rode for Harry Sinclair's Rancocas stable when Zev was its star. His races with William Woodward's Gallant Fox are well remembered.

Sande almost lost his life when a horse named Spurt fell with him during the Saratoga meeting in 1924. Both of the jockey's legs were broken as well as an arm and several ribs. Patched up with silver plates, Earl returned to the track to finish out a brilliant career.

Laabs Makes Good On Detroit Farm Slugging Homers

RED BIRDS ARE BEATEN BY INDIANAPOLIS, 7-4

Chicago, May 26.—(P)—There doesn't seem to be much doubt about Chet Laabs of the Milwaukee Brewers being on his way up to the major leagues.

Laabs, sent back to the Brewers by Detroit for more seasoning, continued his brilliant hitting with a homer yesterday as Milwaukee handed St. Paul's Saints their ninth consecutive defeat. The final score was 7-6.

The circuit-smash gave Laabs the home run leadership, with 12, a teammate Lin Storti, has 11 round-trippers to his credit.

In the other afternoon game, Indianapolis whipped Columbus 7 to 4, pounding Bob Kilinger from the mound in the eighth with a two-run burst which settled the issue. Berger hit a homer for the Indians, while Morgan's triple in the sixth accounted for three of the Bird's runs.

In a night game Louisville, rolled up a 14-2 score on Toledo. The Hens got but eight hits off Flowers while the Colonels were collecting 15 safe blows off Shaffer. The game was loosely played, Louisville committing four errors and Toledo five.

Kansas City whipped Minneapolis 19 to 5 in another night tilt, sewing it up with a six run burst in the fourth inning.

New York, May 26.—(P)—The race for three-year old turf honors was a wide open affair again today as a result of the injury which has placed Morton L. Schwartz's Bold Venture on the sidelines for the remainder of the year.

The winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, owned by Morton L. Schwartz of New York, bowed a tendon in his right foreleg yesterday while working out at Belmont Park. Although the bow was not a bad one, trainer Max Hirsch declared there was no chance of getting the son of St. Germans back to the races this year.

Jesse Owens Is Entered In Annual College Meet

Milwaukee, Wis., May 26.—(P)—Marquette University had on file today the entry of Jesse Owens, Ohio State University negro sprint star, for the 11th annual central intercollegiate track and field championships to be held June 5. Owens' coach, Larry Snyder, said the negro would compete in the 100 and 200-yard dashes and that at least 10 other Ohio Staters would vie in the championships which Ohio State won last year.

Willzer Kennels Win More Laurels

FAYETTE CO. BULL TERRIERS IN NEW JERSEY SHOW

The Willzer Kennels, located northeast of Washington C. H. on the CCC Highway have captured more laurels, the latest conquest being the Morris-Essex show, held in Madison, N. J.

Willzer Watchman, eight-month-old Bull Terrier, took first in the Junior Puppy division and first bull terrier male.

Willzer Queen Guinevere was second in the open event and third best bitch at the show.

The show was put on by Mrs. Dodge at the private polo field of her 1000-acre estate. It was thought to be the largest show put on in America, with 3951 dogs entered, all judged in one day.

The affair, it is estimated, cost Mrs. Dodge $100,000.

History Repeats For Gene Sarazen

GUY PAULSEN, WHOM HE HAD

IN SAME SPOT AGAIN

Fitchburg, Mass., May 26.—(P)—Gene Sarazen, who had to out-score Guy Paulsen of Longmeadow, to gain the 1935 Massachusetts Open golf championship here at Oak Hill, appeared to have the same assignment today as he approached the half way mark of his 72 holes title defense.

The famous East Brookfield, Conn., farmer-golfer, despite three penalty shots, the price he paid for taking two rash chances, finished in a first place tie with Paulsen when he registered a par 71.

A stroke behind came Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Winchester, who flubbed five easy putts for birdies as he put together an opening round of 72, one over.

Bob Crowley of Norfolk, and John Shinkonis of Andover, were tied for fourth place, with 73's, after the first round.

Out-o'-Doors

N. S. Cafeteria For Wild Birds

Uncle Sam is having a peck of trouble trying to enforce a curfew law for a million and a half wild ducks and geese down in Arkansas.

Wintering at the White River migratory waterfowl refuge in central Arkansas were flocks of wildfowl that have reached the 1,500,000 mark. They had a habit of hopping out nights to neighboring rice fields, during harvest seasons that are unusually rainy.

For years flood waters uprooted aquatic plants that furnished food for the ducks, and so they've been flapping over to the fields to nibble at the rice.

Old methods of harvesting made it impossible to get the rice crop in before the birds came from the north. Modern machinery enabled farmers to get the jump on the birds. So, lately, damage has been confined to small areas. Except in rainy seasons, the birds now feed largely on waste rice left after the harvest is over.

NATURAL 'LUNCH COUNTER'

Rice farmers during the years of severe damage shot the birds mercilessly. Game laws were forgotten. Instead of taking revenue from the rice crops, farmers began to make money from duck hunters, who were housed, fed, and guided to shooting blinds in the rice fields.

Helping the biological survey scientists at White River now are two Civilian Conservation camps. They are building up a natural food supply to entice the birds away from the free lunch counter offered by the neighboring rice fields.

The task is to store food water so it can be let at will over growing places of the aquatic plants, beans, Kaffir corn, rice, sorghum and other foods are planted in the upland areas. On most of the 130 fresh water ponds within the refuge area, C. C. boys are working to stabilize water levels.

WILD LIFE PROFUSE

The Arkansas refuge is a narrow strip of land and water, about 30 miles long and four miles wide. It includes a sector of the White river and its many bayous.

Birds and animals abound in the area. Wood ducks nest high in tree cavities. There are herons, kingfishers, mallards, teal, muskrats and water snakes. On the solid ground are deer. Bears clamber through the thickets on the shore. Fur-bearing animals infest the refuge. Fishing is fine. Many houseboats of fishermen are tied to the banks of the streams.

The government has set aside a large plot in the center as the waterfowl sanctuary. Eventually a protected area of 110,000 acres is planned.

Excellent cover remains for the birds in this Arkansas refuge, but the meals aren't as easy to find as they once were. Uncle Sam plans a new continuous cafeteria that will satisfy the birds, keep them at home of an evening and halt their forages.

SPORT SLANTS

The epidemic of holes-in-one as shown by the compilations of The Associated Press Hole-In-One Club of 1936 brings up the natural question: Who has the most aces to his credit?

The gentleman is old Alex Herd, the British pro, who has parked 19 tee shots in the can, according to the Golfers Handbook of 1936, published over in Britain.

"It is a curious thing," says the piece about Herd's aces, "that when Herd holed for the 17th time in one it was at the 17th hole at Coombe Hill.

MAGIC JIGGER

"A curious feat not dissociated with Herd's record is that subsequent to holing his 16th hole-in-one Herd was following a match, and carrying the jigger with which he has gained some of his holes-in-one. One of the players asked to try it, and immediately holed out in one at the 17th, the same at which Herd accomplished his 17th hole-in-one."

Behind Herd in this chronicle of the aces are James Braid, with 14 singletons; Mr. J. T. Smilie, with 13; Mr. W. Herbert Fowler, with an even dozen, and J. H. Taylor, with 10—the designation "Mr." denoting amateurs, as is the custom in Britain where a pro must use the servants' entrance even though he may have made 19 holes-in-one!

All this business about the British ace experts brought up the question of who in the United States had bagged the most. The U. S. G. A., which doesn't keep records of such things, seemed to recall a fellow in New Jersey who claimed a lot. Name of Washington or something.

Well, over in Jersey they said old Tom Washington had died several months ago and that no one remembered exactly how many aces he had gathered. So that was that.

An odd thing happened when J. H. Taylor, the British pro, got his 10th ace. His partner on this particular round carded a 14 at the first hole, the largest score ever recorded on one hole in the open championship—and Taylor aced the second.

The Golfers Handbook declares that only once has a golfer aced two successive holes. This occurred in 1911 at the Vancouver Golf and Country Club, where Alex Guthrie, a visiting pro, sank his full iron tee shot on the first and his drive (with a brassie) on the 200-yard, uphill second.

Holes have been halved with aces, too, once in a foursome at Fresh Meadow Country Club on Long Island, N. Y., by Norman Franke and A. E. Booth.

Probably the greatest feat of all, which was not only a "hole-in-one" but also a "double eagle"—three under par—was scored by the professional, George Kirby, playing his home course at Stonehamton, England, on September 21, 1928. He sent his tee shot true to the cup on the 340-yard ninth.

Although the ace is the aim of all golfers, the "double eagle" is a much more difficult and most rare performance.

THE CAMDEN RUBY MURDER
by ADAM BLISS
COPYRIGHT—REPRINTED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:
Detective Keyes and Gary Maughan are seeking the mysterious slayer of Margalo Younger, an actress and old friend of Maughan. She was murdered with a needle-like instrument as she and Maughan sat in the home of Dono Van Every, a collector of rare jewels. Listening to his gruesome story of the famous Camden ruby's history. The actress had been wearing Van Every's ruby which he described as a "murder stone". Among those questioned by the detective were Maughan; Van Every; his young niece, Joyce, who lives with him; her fiancé, Allan Foster; Joyce's companion, Laura Randall, and a Mrs. Bryce, close friend of Van Every's. Another suspect is Roy Barrimore, close friend of the actress, who shot himself shortly after her death. Margalo's maid finds a duplicate Camden ruby among the effects of her dead mistress which, however, proves to be a fake. Keyes interviews Manuel Gonzales, a friend of Margalo's. Maughan runs into Laura Randall on the street who promises to have some important information for him the next morning. Van Every's ruby is found missing from its hiding place shortly before Miss Randall is found murdered in the cab in which Maughan had left her a few moments previously. The ruby is found among her clothes. The police question Maughan.
(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 28

VAN EVERY'S ruby gone. Stolen. The ruby around Miss Randall's neck. Could she have stolen it? It looked that way. Stolen it and worn it. The message she had left that she would have something to tell Keyes and me tomorrow.

"What time did you get to Sixty-ninth street and Fifth?" I asked the cab driver.
"Well, I looked at my clock when we left you, because I was hungry and this was going to be my last trip until after dinner. It was quarter of 6 when I pulled away from the Warrington. It could not have been five minutes later when all this happened."

"And you say the lady called out to someone? Called 'Miss Joy'?"
"Right, boss. 'Miss Joy.' Kinda cried it out, like she saw somebody she knew, and wanted to attract her attention. You know how ladies scream out when they see a party they know. Kinda shrill and loud like."

"It was 'Miss Joyce,' Laura Randall was calling." I muttered half to myself, half to my companion.
"Sounded like it. I thought it was 'Miss Joy,' but it coulda been 'Miss Joyce.' Gee, I hope these bulls lemme go now. I did my duty, and I'm hungry. Wife waiting home for me to eat. Supper'll get all cold."

I, too, wanted to get away, but knew it was useless until Keyes came. Van Every waiting for me, walking the floor probably nervous, upset about his ruby. I wondered whether the stalwart guard in the blue coat would let me get to a phone. Looking at him again, I decided I wouldn't risk asking him. He was bound to refuse, for even now he was glowering at me angrily. Randall wearing the ruby. Had she stolen it? She must have. There wasn't a thing in the Van Every house she didn't know. When Soon and Van Every had hidden the ruby in what they thought was a safer place, it wasn't long before she knew where the place was. But why had she taken it—put it around her neck to wear it? Had it fascinated her, too? Plain, dowdy Laura Randall? Did she want to feel it around her neck, as Margalo had? Want to see it glow on her bosom? Laura Randall stealing into Soon's room, taking the ruby from the idol, putting the old gold chain around her neck, fondling the ruby. . . . I could not reconcile it.

Laura Randall, wanting to tell me something. A secret in her eyes. Fool that I was? I should have drawn her out. She would have told. I think, if I had insisted. I might have saved her if I had known.
At least now I could tell Van Every that I knew who had taken his ruby. He would not suspect Miss Randall. . . . What had possessed her, anyway, stealing the ruby? Perhaps, though, she was only borrowing it—intending to return it.
The little woman calling out "Miss Joyce"—for Miss Joyce it must have been. What did that mean? There an explanation occurred to me. I tried to force it out of my mind. It would not leave. Joyce could not be mixed up in this thing! Could not. Yet on the night when Margalo had been murdered Joyce was standing a moment in the open doorway. This evening, when Miss Randall had been murdered Joyce was near by. Near enough for Laura Randall to see her, call out to her. Was Joyce in another taxi? Or was she walking on the sidewalk, hurrying home.

Gabel's store, I supposed, closed at 5:30. Like other big city stores. Joyce would have time to walk to Fifth avenue by 5:45—that is if the store closed at 5:30. But why should she walk to Fifth avenue, when Gribbel's was on Broadway, and the Van Every home could be reached much more quickly from Broadway than from Fifth? It might be that she had an engagement for dinner—a good excuse for coming to Fifth avenue. When I had seen her in the afternoon she had been tired, but still rather happy—deploring the fact that she had to dance tonight with young Foster.

Two attendants were bringing in another body on a stretcher, dumping it carelessly on one of the slabs. I could hear their voices echoing through the stone morgue. Shuddering I sat there, thinking of poor Miss Randall, of Van Every waiting for me to come, of Joyce and her errand on Fifth avenue. It was senseless to think she had been walking, for in the rain and sleet and cold, Joyce would surely take a taxi. She would not carry the force of her job into her everyday life. She had been used to taking taxis. She would take one home when she finished work.

Joyce on the scene of Margalo's murder. Joyce there tonight, when Miss Randall was killed. Twice. Was it coincidence?

I grew cold all over when I thought that I, too, had been present when Margalo died; I, too, had been near when Laura Randall was killed—the last to speak to either of them. The guard was glowering at me because he thought I had murdered Laura Randall! Even the taxi driver suspected me!

Keyes came in after I had waited what seemed hours. In reality it was only 20 minutes from the time the first officer had left me. He had been found in his favorite restaurant. "What's this?" he demanded. Without a word, my officer guard left me in company with only the taxi driver and led the captain to the slab where Miss Randall lay. When Keyes came back, he had the ruby in his hand.
"Come up to my office," he said, and all of us followed. When he was seated at the desk which was getting to be so familiar to me, he laid the jewel on a bit of white paper, and motioned me to talk.

"It's a mystery, Keyes. I don't know what to think." I began, hesitantly.

"Start at the beginning. I understand you were in the fatal taxi with Laura Randall, and I want to know what happened."

"I was standing in front of the library, when she came along—she had come to get Joyce—you remember I explained to you about Joyce?" He nodded. "Miss Randall was excited, I thought—or perhaps it was because I was tired, I had walked a couple of miles in the rain. Anyway, she seemed excited and was chattering on about something, when I called a taxi for her. I wasn't going with her at first, then I thought I would, so I climbed in beside her. She seemed to want to tell me something. Now I blame myself because I wasn't in the mood to listen. She was nervous, and kept looking at me strangely. Then she said to tell you she wanted to see both of us at 10 tomorrow. She emphasized the appointment of a second looking after the taxi. Immediately after I entered the hotel, I went to the desk, and found that Van Every had been calling me. When I finally got him on the phone in my room he told me that the ruby had been stolen. He was all upset."

"The ruby!" Keyes exclaimed.
"Yes, and he wanted to get hold of you right away. I promised him I'd do my best to find you, and called your office. I was just going out, when this officer," I pointed to my first guard, "and the taxi driver colored me and brought me to the morgue."

"Just what did Van Every say about the ruby?"
I told him as best I could remember.

When I had finished, he took the ruby once more in his hand. "Looks like our little Miss Randall was the thief!"

I admitted I was surprised when the morgue attendant had opened her coat, and I had seen the red stone.

Jerry Knox continued the story. What he told Keyes was essentially what he told me. How Miss Randall had rapped on the glass and called out at Sixty-ninth street, how a few moments later, he had noticed her on the floor, how he had come with the officer to the hotel to get me, thinking I would know what had happened.
